

DAFTAR PUSTAKA

1. Adam KE; Glasson, (1989), "Development of Porosity During Combustion of Coke and Coals", Carbon, Vol 27 No 1, Pergamon Press , London.
2. Cheremisinoff, P.N, (1978), " Carbon Handbook", Carbon Adsorben , An Arbor Science Publisher New York.
3. Dubinin, M.M, (1966), " Porous Structure and Absortion Properties of Active Carbon", Chemistry and Physic of Carbon Advance, by Philip Walker , Marcell Dekker Inc , New York.
4. Erwin, (1988), "Presentasi Pembuatan Petroleum Coke ", Presentasi Pertamina, Dumai.
5. Jagtoyen; Thwaites,(1992),"Adsorben Carbon Synthetics from Coal by Phosporic Acid Activation", Carbon,Vol 30 , No 7,Pergamon Press, London.
6. Kirk; Othmer, (1982), "Encyclopedia of Chemical Technology ", Third Edition, Vol 4, Wiley Inter Science Publication, John Wiley and Sons, New York.
7. Marsh,H, (1986), "The Making of Coke in the Delayed Coker in the Slot Coking Oven",In Carbon and Coals Gasification Science and Technology,by Jose Figueredo, Martinus Nijhoff, Dordrect
8. Reinoso F.R, (1986), "Fundamental and Practical Implication of Activated Carbon",Carbon and Coal Gasification, Martinus Nijhof, Dordrect.
9. Silverstein, R; Bassler, C, (1991), "Spectrometric Identification of Organic Compounds" , Fifth Edition, John Wiley and Sons Inc, New York.
10. Standar Industri Indonesia,(1988),"Uji dan Mutu Arang Aktif", SII No 0258, Deprind, Jakarta.

11. Weller, J, (1987), "Petroleum Coke A Supply Element Outlook", Chemical Engineering Progress, Vol 83 , No 2, New York.
12. Wigmans T, (1986), " Fundamental and Practical Implication of Activated Carbon", Carbon and Coal Gasification Science and Technology, Martinus Nijhoff, Dordrecht.
13. William, A.G; Donald R, (1942), "The Chemical Technology of Petroleum", Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, McGraw Hill Book Co, New York.

