Abstract

Small Island with continent resource limitation is one side and large potency of marine resource in other side confronted to continuous development efforts. Compensating effort of small island growth between ecological and economic orientation need typical development approach. If development small island strategy conducted with conventional approach cannot quickly expand. This matter happened because small island have accesibilities with growth centers still not adequate yet. Thereby hence development approach oriented properly at generalization effort. One of generalization form is allocation system in the form of fiscal policy.
